The Visiting Nurse Association provides multiple services, such as nursing, physical, occupational, and diet therapy and home aid services.

The public health nurse members of the staff carry the responsibility of planning with the physician and the family when the patient needs several types of service, whether they are provided by this agency or others. They also supervise the work of the Association's practical nurses and home aides.

HOME AIDES are assigned to families of patients which need personal and housekeeping services in order to keep the family together. Services of the visiting nurse are available to all and the fees are based on the ability of the patient to pay.
