Supply of Evergreens Needed In Home Landscaping Plans

No home landscape is complete without a generous supply of both coniferous and broadleaf evergreens. They are the basis for all-year-green color, which prevents a drawl look to the property in winter.

The coniferous evergreens also provide plant character and very interesting foliage. The BROADLEAF evergreens provide some of our loveliest flowers, including camellias, rhododendrons, laurels, azaleas and many others. Most home owners are familiar with the evergreen conifers such as the pines, cedars, hemlocks, spruces, arbor vitae and junipers. They all are strong growing and deservedly popular.

In the shrubs the yearly, particularly the hedges, always are in demand and handy in most areas for landscaping the outside of the country. Spreading junipers and arbor vitae, as well as hemlocks trimmed as shrubs are striking.

OUTSTANDING broadleaf evergreens are well known, and are favorites. They are in the northern tier of states.

Boxwood is one of the prized evergreens used in home landscaping because of its compact growth and beautiful evergreen leaves. It is not quite so hardy as box, but it is a favorite plant of many people particularly as far north as Massachusetts, as well as on the west coast.

THE CAMELLIA often is called the "winter rose" of flowers. The flowers are magnificent, the foliage glossy, deep green, and altogether beautiful. Grown throughout the milder temperate and humid climates.

Cotoneaster is prized primarily for its fall colors and the attractive bird food branches of berries and foliage and bright red berries. Not quite as hardy as the boxwood and box, but they spread excellent in the North of states.

Golden Wintergreen has evergreen leaves, attractive red berries. Holly—one of our most striking evergreen shrubs, with attractive red berries.

MOUNTAIN LAUREL has lovely flowers, glossy green foliage and is hardy. With good soil it will grow as far north as Minnesota.

Pieris has staking peeling clusters of bell-like white flowers and narrow evergreen leaves. Pyracantha is one of our most striking plants, noted especially for its striking orange, red or yellow berries. It is hardy in most states and where protected sometimes can be grown even along the northern tier.

Rhododendrons—there are many varieties of this outstanding shrub, with its large clusters of white, pink or red flowers and glossy foliage.

VIBURNUM is evergreen in some climates due to its deciduous in colder areas. It's best known for its clusters of small fragrant blossoms.

with flowers resembling the trailing arbutus and about as fragrant. Amelie's are white in large and blue-ranging, according to type, over a large part of the U.S. (climbed in North) and noted for the wealth and range of brilliant color in the blooms.

Nurserymen will advise a combination of broadleaf and narrow leaf or needleleaf evergreens to make striking displays all year round on your property.

Transplanting Hints for Trees, Shrubs, Roses

Transplanting? Here are some suggestions from Michigan State University garden authority, Dig a hole twice the size and depth of the "ball" of dirt and roots. Then you can work in good soil, mix manure or perhaps spread out the roots. Do not apply fertilizer in contact with the roots.

Pack carefully by wetting and fill hole to the ground level. Then let the water run into fill water down all over bed or root area. Place the tree in its new position, fill in around the hole to bring in new soil and water 2 to 3 times a week.

IF TREES, shrubs or bushes are being transplanted, pack the root ball firmly around the roots with soil and water to just cover the soil level and water thoroughly.

Get With It!

It's time of the year when million of Americans take to the outdoors—when the chill weather has faded and the waters, highways, backyards, tennis courts and golf courses beckon tempting. That's time to enjoy life through active or rest, in the fresh air outdoors.

Space-Saver

For space-saving installations in a house, a cast iron "receptor bathtub"—shower and less than most tubs—with the addition of shower receptor and small bathtub, often is ideal for a second bathroom.

Give Pillows An 'Automatic' Fluff-Up

When your spring cleaning attention turns to the linen closet and bedding pile, you probably look through those feather bed pillows. Pillows trap dirt and dust, and should be washed and aired at least once a year to keep them sweet, clean and fluffy. How to do it? Use your automatic washer and dryer and follow these suggestions from the home laundry department.

BEFORE WASHING check pillow case for wash instructions. Most cases are washable in the machine but were designed for gentle washing. The liner for pillow cases and the outer shell are washable in the machine.

— Set washer for regular wash cycle, warm wash and add gentle action. Add detergent in the measured amount recommended for normal load.

AS THE WASHER fills, put the pillows down into the water for complete saturation before gentle agitation begins or pillows may float on top of the water.

— Halfway through the wash cycle, stop the washer and turn the pillow's sides to the lid, re-start and allow washer to complete cycle.

— Set dryer for normal or low setting temperature and select gentle selection. Place the two feather pillows in the dryer along with three or four t-shirt linens which will shorten the drying time. Since pillows are filled they require more than one drying cycle.

Decorative possibilities for today's modern kitchen are infinite. Covering your living rooms, kitchens, entryways, patios, terraces, swimming pools, built-in and built-down spaces more, the traditional tiled bathrooms.
