"Edward Pool will sell on the Luther Stanley place, one-half mile south of Birmingham on the gravel road, on Saturday March 24, at 10 o'clock a.m., one heavy work horse, 2 cows coming in, 10 head of 2-year-old cattle, stall-fed; 8 yearlings, 2 brood sows, 20 shotts, 2 fat hogs, farm machinery, clover and timothy hay, etc.

Boys Will Be Boys!

Remember the days at the old swimming hole? Birmingham had one of its own and it sometimes led to a serious problem, as evidenced by the following article from the August 16, 1878 edition.

"Residents of that part of the village bordering on the creek, are almost daily unwilling witnesses of a spectacle which is a most decided nuisance. Boys of all ages, from five to twenty, are in the habit of making this portion of the creek a headquarters for bathing purposes. 'Common decency demands that this state of affairs should be remedied, and some of our better class of citizens declare that if the nuisance is not stopped, they will cause the arrest of the young offenders. Boys, if you want to keep out of trouble, you had better keep out of the creek.'
