

Birmingham

1864

Where would you have lived?

Let your imagination turn back the calendar and place your present homesite where it would have been 100 years or more ago.

If you live near Woodward, you might have been a neighbor of John Hunter, Birmingham's first settler.

If your home is near Maple Road, the old post horse mail route would have been nearby.

If you live near Telegraph, you could have conveniently enjoyed the fruits of Birmingham's first cider mill.

For a closer look into Birmingham's past, visit the Maple Road-Telegraph office of Manufacturers Bank, where the large, colorful mural shown above is on display. Manufacturers Bank is proud to be a part of the Birmingham-Bloomfield community, and we welcome every opportunity to serve you.
