Exhibit ‘A’ (for Artwork)

Two Bloomfield High School students prepare their exhibit for the fifth annual children’s show sponsored by the Oakland Art Education Association and the North-land Shopping Center in Southfield. Ed Perlman, sopho-more, puts finishing touches on metal sculpture, above, and Mary Town, junior, completes an advertising project. Art work of all grades, Kindergarten through 12th, is included in the exhibit, with the theme “Our Art is Young and Gay.” Open during regular shopping center hours, the show is being held in the Northland Center through Saturday.

BAA Slates Meeting and Art Lecture

The annual meeting of the Bloomfield Art Association took place at 8 p.m. Friday, September 23. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the school.

Following the meeting, there was to be a lecture illustrated with slides, “Eurasia Art as a Tradition,” by Dr. John C. Galloway, chairman of the department of art at Oakland University. Dr. Galloway founded the department of art at the university, and went to the University of London and to the Universidad de Madrid in 1963. As president of the International Association of Fine Art, he is directing the first international art and gallery, and teaching at the alma mater of art and primitive art.

BE PRESTOCHI takes over after the lecture, including classical modernism and contemporary history of art and in subsequent lectures, focusing on poetry and the visual arts.

Dr. Galloway has been involved in academic, rural, and urban, and has been working on various international projects at the University of Michigan, including a full-blown exhibit of the 1960s and a graduate project at the University of California at Berkeley.

Crackenhoper Sisters’ Sales of Handmade Pottery

Handmade pieces will be sold at a display of handmade pottery in the Cravenkoper Academy of Art. The sale opens Friday and continues through September 24. Students will sell their work at a small fee of $1.50 per piece. The sale will be held in the Graff House, located on the north side of the campus.

Big pots, little pots, jugs, vases, baskets, boxes, cups and saucers will be among items offered. A portion of the sale proceeds will be donated to student organizations.
