Landmarks Lend Clues To Past

THE OLD FRANKLIN CIDER MILL
Built in 1837, it became center for farmers.

BIRMINGHAM’S QUARTON LAKE DAM
Pike by the basketful.

SHAIN PARK IN THE HEART OF DOWNTOWN
Large tree at left fatal victim to Dutch Elm disease.

AREA’S TRIBUTE TO CIVIL WAR SOLDIERS
Monument honors men from four communities.

IN THIS SECTION

"The town that time forgot."—Franklin, the history of its government, people and institutions. See stories, pictures, page 3.

One of Franklin’s most exciting events each year is the Homeny. Fry a colorful account of its history, see story, picture, page 5.

Early in life, Eugene Lathrup had a vision of building a "plains city." For the story of how he fulfilled this ambition, see story, page 7.

The Village of Beverly Hills is known as a quiet residential community. For the story of how it evolved, turn to page 13.

THE HISTORIC FRANKLIN CEMETERY
Grave stones, barely legible, date back to 1824.