

Getting the Lowdown on Know-How

Mrs. Semon Knudsen (from left), Todd Perry, manager of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and Mr. Knudsen put their heads together a week ago to finalize thinking on what makes a concert series successful (see Suburban Scene, 3-C). Because of his close association with Tanglewood, tips from Mr. Perry were eagerly sought as being applicable to our own series of summer concerts, the Meadow Brook Festival.

Annual Bake Sale Held by Gardeners

The Little Garden Club held its annual bake sale and guest day May 18 at the home of Mrs. Carl B. Black of Marblehead Drive, Bloomfield Hills. Acting as hostesses for Mrs. Black were Mrs. Horace Gibson of Brantford Drive; Mrs. Russell Norris of Thorndale Lane and Mrs. Preston Weir of Bryn Mawr.

Individual flower arrangements were made by members and their guests after a short workshop conducted by Mrs. Paul McConkie, who also did the judging. Among those attending with guests were Mrs. Gerald O'Grady of Church Road, Mrs. C. E. Dalton of N. Williamsbury, Mrs. Felix Bruner of Epping Lane.

NOW HEAR THIS!

David E. Davis, the old Master Joiner, has hoisted anchor and sailed into a larger port. Much as I hated to leave my snug harbor at 332 Hamilton, increased demand for my goods and services made it impossible for me to remain moored to so small a dock.

In my new location at 4312 North Woodward (just South of 14 Mile Road) I offer a much larger selection of fine antiques and authentic reproductions. My service operation has been expanded so that I can handle a greater number of pieces for repair or refinishing . . . and of course I will continue to handcraft fine furniture to order.
