Marian-Rice Float Depicts B'ham's Catholic Pioneers

By KATHY DARGA
Special Writer

"Pioneers of Catholic Education in Birmingham" was the theme for the Conestoga Wagon-Float, a joint project of the Brother Rice and Marian student councils.

Under the direction of chairmen Suzanne Young, vice-president of the Marian Student Council and Jack O'Hara of Brother Rice, students from both high schools constructed the float at the home of Pam Bryann.

Committee members included Bob Gabriel, who designed the float and constructed the frame; Jim Danton, Bob Gabriel, Ray Gabriel, Pam Gwynn, Sue Henry, Dick Druze, Mary Lickert and Francis Thurber, the entry's queen.

During the past week, elections for class officers have been held and results announced. The senior class will be led by president Linda Gibson, vice-president Karen Lund, secretary Diane Szablon and treasurer Margaret Whalen.

Junior officers will be president Sharon Gilmore, vice-president Kathy Chauvin, secretary Susan Murray and treasurer Kathy Griggs.

One of the final duties of the current sophomore class officers was the semi-formal dance, "Paris After Dark," held May 15.

Ann Heiser chaired the decorations committee and other committee chairs included Peggy Harrington, Kathy Heinen, Susan MacAlone, Mary Sharon McDaniels and Jane Wilson.

CLASS OFFICERS honored at the event were Mary Sharon McDaniels, Jayne Benedict, Grace Murray Young and Peggy Harrington, of the current year, and their successors, announced for the first time at this event.

Two 1964 Marian publications will make their debuts in the very early part of next month—the Carnival, publicity chairman for the Student Council, and secretary of the French Club.

Also a member of National Honor Society, Pep Club, the Junior class play, and the debating team, Janis visited France last summer as a foreign exchange student.

Election of next year's senior and junior class officers took place last week. For the future senior class, John Michel, Greg Lau and Wes Schulz were nominated for president.

TIM OSBOURNE, Sue Wiant and Geoff Smith were named for vice president; Carol Dameron, Dianna Dann and Joan Carter for corresponding secretary; Jane Bartek, Sue Le Van and Karen Trimmer for recording secretary; and Bill Jentzen, Vern Noga, Chuck Townsend and George Sasa for treasurer.

The candidates for next year's junior class included Jim Bryann, Joe Lloyd and Julie Adams for president; June Lich, Henry Kusay, Mike Solomon for vice-president; Cheryl Smith, Cheryl Marsh and Dolly Garlie for secretary; and Jeff May, Bob Egelman, Jane Vance for treasurer.

The Los Angeles Angels have never won a series in Tiger Stadium.

and Margaret McCartney directed layout. Copy editors were Susan Consolemago and Shirley Devine, while Sandy Prochaska directed photography and Christine White acted as head typist.

Other staff members included business manager Mary Rose Lamb, academics editor Mary Taylor, artist Barbara Arim and junior assistants Mary Frances Gray and Anne Nemets.

THE LITERARY magazine, "Trove," named for the folk-singer of old France, includes poetry, prose and art from all classes. The magazine is edited by Kathleen Darga, with staff members Georgia Giau and Laura Johnson. Artists include Sue Mahr, Barbara Donohue and Donna Turner.

Members of the Senior Class are looking forward to the Senior Prom, to be held June 12 at the Raleigh House, Detroit.

The prom is a traditional gift from Senior parents to their daughters. Therefore, a prom committee of parents, headed by Mr. Robert Keating, has taken care of planning, decorating and arrangements.

Next Year's Officers Named at Derby Jr.

By TERRY GERMANSON

Pick Valedictorian, Salutatorian at Hills

KAREN TRIMMER
Special Writer

The valedictorian and salutatorian for 1964 have been announced; they are Marguerite Hyde and Janis Adams.

Rica has participated in the French Club, Foreign Exchange Club, Student Council, National Honor Society and served as vice-presidency and president, respectively, of the Pep Club.

She also worked as junior class editor of the BHHS yearbook, was in charge of special problems for the variety show, and was named first-Teen of the Week for the Birmingham Economic.

ONE of five senior girls selected to be on the Homecoming court, Rica received the DAR award last fall for excellence in citizenship and leadership.

Janis, this year's salutatorian, has also been active in school activities. She was both co-chairman and script writer for the variety show, chairman for Senior Skip day and the Girls' Athletic Association Carnival, publicity chairman for the Student Council, and secretary of the French Club.

Also a member of National Honor Society, Pep Club, the Junior class play, and the debating team, Janis visited France last summer as a foreign exchange student.

Election of next year's senior and junior class officers took place last week. For the future senior class, John Michel, Greg Lau and Wes Schulz were nominated for president.

Groves Seniors Present Assembly

By PAM CARPENTER
Special Writer

Groves' senior class presented their annual senior assembly this past Monday, May 25. Emceed by the program were Mark Lackner and Al Schaargens. Senior talents were displayed in performances; A piano solo by Ann Ezer; girls' poetry recital; George Ghazal, Rod Hastings, and John Hangstler in a male trio; Diane Lognow in a modern jazz dance; Protest singing by Skip Arthur.

"Hey Look Me Over" was sung by the "Senorettes"; a pop medley on the piano by Nancy Howard; Linda Hall sang "Some Enchanted Evening" and "South Pacific"; "Food, Glorious Food," by Jill Harkey, Jane Upward, Nancy Howard, Marilyn Klotz, Carolyn Garney, Laurie Dykstra and Sally Bricker.

BUSINESS retailers attended an opera yesterday, May 27. Bake sales during the year helped finance this annual trip. Groves' English classes will continue seeing the movie, "Huck Finn". The picture was scheduled for today and tomorrow.

Seniors won't be in school tomorrow because of their annual "Skip Day."

Ready to Lead

The 1964-5 slate of officers was on duty after election last week at the Oakland Citizens League's annual dinner. Presiding was F. Ward Ouradnik, elected president after serving an interim term following the resignation in late 1963 of William H. McGaughey. Other officers are (from left) Nelson Kieb, treasurer; William H. Arlund, vice president; and Richard J. Wallace, secretary. Arlund was named interim vice president in January to replace Ouradnik.

First Water Ballet Set At Berkshire

By MARGARET BROWNING
Special Writer

The "Nymphs," Berkshire's water ballet group, will present "It's A Charmin' World" Thursday and Friday. Directed by Miss Mary Scott, the group will put on the first water show for Berkshire.

There will be three solos done by Sue Woodsum, Julie Robertson, and Bonnie Black. Anita Scialli and Chris Coy and Barb Mangrum and Sally Schimpke will present duets.

The theme of the show is a charm bracelet. Each group has a different charm which they represent and imitate in the water.

TUESDAY was an elementary "All City Festival" at Seaholm. Berkshire's seventh grade band performed in this playing "Pompous Major March" and "Little Colonel Overture."

On Wednesday, the Berkshire eighth grade band played at the secondary "All City Festival." The group, directed by Mr. Bronson, performed "With Flags Unfurled" and "Symbol of Honor."

Going into the 1964 season, Al Kaine of the Detroit Tigers was tied with Mickey Martie of the New York Yankees in lifetime batting at .309.
