Troopers Mark May Water Safety Month

The State Police are giving special emphasis to water safety in May — "A Campaign for Every Day," and "A Campaign for Every Family," as part of their contribution to Michigan's Water Safety Drive, under the direction of State Police Director John A. Selleck, commander of the police department at the Michigan Central Waterway in Sault Ste. Marie.

The emphasis is on water safety and the dangers associated with bodybuilders, water skis, and other forms of water sports.

Coopers opened the day's activities with a demonstration of the dangers associated with water sports, and the importance of water safety.

"The theme of the day is to encourage children to be responsible for their own safety," said Cooper. "We want to teach them the importance of water safety and how to enjoy it responsibly.

The day's activities included a water safety demonstration, a water safety drill, and a water safety quiz for children.

Residents 'Adopt' Colonial Girl

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence of Maple, a four-year-old girl, have adopted a colonial girl named "Elly" for the month of May. "Elly" is a girl who was adopted for the month of May for the Maple residents to take care of.

"Elly" was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, who are active members of the Maple community. They plan to take care of "Elly" throughout the month of May.

The adoption of "Elly" is part of a larger effort to involve the community in the celebration of May. The Maple community has organized a variety of events and activities to celebrate the month of May.
