Congressman Puts Backbone In US Policy

A resolution to "put backbone" into U.S. policy in Vietnam and South Asia was introduced by Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Michigan), a key member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, he announced today.

Broomfield, ranking Republican on the Far East Sub-committee, said the military and internal situation in Vietnam and Laos "is visibly deteriorating."

"We have suffered defeat after defeat in Vietnam," he said. "In Laos, the Communists are reported to be ready to overrun all of the strategic Plain des Jarres."

"ON FEBRUARY 20, we were told by the President that 'we no longer have (a problem in) Laos,'" said Broomfield. "We are told at one time by the Secretary of Defense that all U.S. troops can be withdrawn from South Vietnam by the end of 1965. Only a few weeks later we are told that the war must be expanded there."

"It is apparent that our policy has not been purposeful, and our determination has not been clear." Broomfield backed President Johnson's request for additional funds for Vietnam. "We all realize that money alone cannot buy victory," he said. "It can supply more modern weapons and equipment, but there must also be the will to win."

"IT IS UP to us to commit ourselves to freedom for South Vietnam and its people, and we must do it in such a way that it will give strength and hope and courage to them in their struggle against aggression."

"We have taken no significant steps as yet to support South Vietnamese moves to end the use of Laos, Cambodia and North Vietnam as privileged sanctuaries." Broomfield said he hoped that passage of his resolution would "end the indecision caused by those who, one day, call for neutralism and the next for further military build-ups."

"IT IS NO wonder that the South Vietnamese are confused about our stand in Southeast Asia," he said. "We need a purpose and an unwavering, precise policy for Vietnam and South Asia," said Broomfield.

"It is time we became the masters of events, rather than the prisoners of our own lack of policy," he said. "There are 16,000 Americans and hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese whose very lives depend upon proper decisions and policies in that vital part of the world. The least we can do is make these decisions and stand by them."

Swimming pools located near trees or industrial plants generally require more chlorine to keep their bacteria count at a safe level. Leaves dropping into the water consume valuable chlorine. Tiny particles in the atmosphere coming from industrial plants also consume chlorine.

American blue cheese is approximately 21.5 per cent protein, 36.5 per cent milk fat and 40 per cent moisture with the balance in total milk minerals.

Fireplaces faced with ceramic tiles in decorator designs can add distinctive flair to the living room, den, kitchen, family room, dining room or bedroom.
