

Area Students Selected by JA

Two local high school students were among eight honored at the Junior Achievement "Futures Unlimited" celebration at Masonic Temple recently.

Achievement awards went to Paul Tappert, Bloomfield Hills High, vice-president sales; and Michael Ostus, Southam High, vice president manufacturing.

They competed with 8,000 other teen-agers in 367 companies. As winners, they will go to the JA convention at Indiana University in August for the national competition. Final prize is a $1,500 scholarship in each category.

A Look at the O-U Magnetics Laboratory

Scientists attending a dedication ceremony and physics symposium for the new Kettering Magnetics Laboratory at Oakland University included Gifford G. Scott (from left), senior research physicist in the physics department of General Motors; Eugene W. Kettering, president of the Kettering Foundation and son of the late Charles F. Kettering; and Prof. Ralph Mobley, chairman of the physics department at Oakland University. The men are examining some of the scientific apparatus which was moved from Dayton, Ohio to the campus as part of a $120,000 grant made by the Kettering Foundation for construction and operation of a magnetics laboratory. The laboratory building is located in an isolated area on the south end of the campus.

Mothers, Teachers Feted at Barnum Tea

By JEAN GIBNEY
Special Writer

On Wednesday, May 27, students of the home economics department of Barnum Junior High School entertained at a tea for their mothers and teachers.

The students informally modeled garments they had made in their clothing classes. The tea foods served were made by students in the food classes. Table and floral arrangements were designed by the students.

Freiwald, boarded a bus to see As You Like It at Wayne State University theatre. Mrs. Purvis accompanied them as parent chaperone.

TWO BARNUM STUDENTS, Karen Werner and Ruth Raymond, won first places in the Centennial writing contest. Karen took first place in poetry, and Ruth in the essay contest.

Barnum's library closed on May 20th. During this year it has expanded in the areas of English, social studies, home economics, and Industrial Arts. A professional collection was added for teachers, along with many new magazines. For the remaining two weeks of school, Mrs. Sharon, the librarian will take an inventory.

ABOUT FORTY STUDENTS from the French and Spanish classes attended the Language Festival on May 16, at Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti. Several skits were presented and poetry was recited. Mr. Kraemer, Miss Harrington, and Mrs. Sherman accompanied the bus load of students to the festival.

ON MAY 21, the eighth grade students of Mr. Staron and Mrs.

Coulter in spelling. Debbie Widenor and Linda Bryant in vocabulary examination. Others who received certificates are Shelley Leonard, David Cote, Janet Mulholland, Jim Coulter, Jean Pettit, Dan Robinson, Al Aikens, Celinda Sawtelle, Dan Thompson, Nancy Steiner, Suzanne Graggan, Dean Whittmore, Jim O'Neill, Becky Sewell, Diane Tallman, Bruce Nuelken, Diane Emmett and Pam Martin.

The examinations are sponsored by Educational Stimuli under the direction of Donald R. Honz of Superior, Wisconsin.

Barnum's track team defeated Lederle and Anderson in a triangular track meet on Friday, May 22, at Anderson. Barnum's score was 54 points, Lederle's 32½, and Anderson's 28½.

Coach Stoll said that the team worked hard with extra practice on Sunday and that they now stand with five wins in dual meets as well as having the recent win in the triangle meet. He would like to give special credit to Tim Trippie for the 100 yard dash and to Bob Rowe for the 60 yard high hurdles.
