Brides

Patrick Callahan and Frederick Schledel, both of Detroit.

Following a trip to northern Michigan, the couple will make their home in Ferndale.

BUTZEL - BARTHOLOMEW

Wearing a gown of off-white linen appliqued in Swiss embroidered white satin roses, Mary Ellen Bartholomew walked up the aisle of the Church of the Assumption, Morristown, N. J., Saturday afternoon to become the bride of Leo Martin Butzel II.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Everett Floyd Bartholomew of Morristown and the late Mr. Bartholomew, and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. Butzel of Lone Pine Road, Birmingham.

The bridal robes were further distinguished by a scoop neckline, short sleeves and an Empire waistline. A shoulder-length veil fell from a petal cap, and the bridal bouquet was of gardenias and stephanotis.

Suzanne Bartholomew was her sister's maid of honor, while Cathleen Bartholomew, another sister, and Lynn Barth were bridesmaids.

Albert K. Butzel of New York City was best man for his brother, and ushers included another brother, John E. of San Jose, Calif., and Charles Gessner of Cambridge, Mass.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will make their home in Morristown.

Localities going East for the ceremony included Mr. and Mrs. William Brahear, Edward Rothman, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kaichen and former Birminghamites Mr. and Mrs. William Truetner of Chevy Chase, Md.

MEINKE - JOHNSON

Susan Kay Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson of Bloomfield Hills, and Herman Albert Meinke of Huntington Woods, son of Mrs. Herman A. Meinke of Huntington Woods and the late Dr. Meinke, were married Saturday morning in St. Hugo of the Hills Church.

The bride wore a gown of imported silk organza, the bodice of which was appliqued in lilies of the valley and point d'envie imported lace. The bell-shaped skirt was distinguished by a detachable train, and her Italian style veil was of silk illusion centered by an organza rose, to which was caught three crystal tear drops. She carried white stephanotis and sweetheart roses.

The attendants, all of whom were dressed in aqua silk chiffon over taffeta, included Sallianne Louise Johnson, sister of the bride, as matron of honor; Ina Schut of Ann Arbor, and Janet Weber and Virginia Ball of Detroit, as bridesmaids.

William Meinke was his brother's best man, and seating the guests were another brother, Daniel; Richard Murphy of Royal Oak; Ronald Replogle of Huntington Woods and Theodore J. Johnson, brother of the bride.

Following a reception and dinner at Pine Knob, the couple left on a honeymoon in northern Michigan, after which they will take a six-week trip to Europe. On their return, they will make their home on Lahser Road, Redford Township.

McCLURE - CONLEY

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, Birmingham, was the

May 30 scene of the wedding uniting in marriage Carole Lynn Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Conley, 4077 Butternut Hill Drive, Birmingham, and Martin E. McClure, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. McClure, 1841 Stanley, Birmingham.

The Rev. Raymond Fenner officiated at the candlelight ceremony in the presence of 200 guests.

The bride's gown by Bianchi was of imported silk organza over peau de soie with Alencon lace motifs on the bodice and chapel skirt. It was washed with a chapel train falling from a cabochon rose. Her silk organza rose petal headpiece secured a French illusion veil.

Matron of honor was Mrs. James Haslock, of Waterford. Bridesmaids were Virginia Durham of Detroit and Mrs. Richard Gann of Lansing. Richard Gann
