Police Patrol Increased for July 4 Holiday

State Police highway patrol coverage with National Guard assistance will be intensified for the 78-hour July 4 week end in special efforts to hold down traffic accidents which killed 28 persons in that holiday period last year in Michigan, Commissioner Joseph A. Childs reports.

The toll in 1963, which tied 1950 for the high mark for this holiday in the 18 years since World War II, resulted from 30 fatal accidents. Two of these were multiple deaths, each killing five persons and accounting for more than a fourth of the holiday loss. Both tolls of 28 occurred in 102-hour periods.

"CONTINUED INCREASES in mileage traveled means the potential for bad fatality experience is present any week end, but especially during a holiday period," said Childs. "With holiday motoring usually a family event, the danger of multiple death accidents becomes greater. Vigilant obedience to the rules and good judgment are essential for safety."

The special patrols begin at noon Friday, July 3, and maximum coverage will be in effect from 3 p.m. to at least 9 p.m. each day of the weekend.

PASS DAYS for State Police officers will be cancelled Friday through Sunday, and detectives where available will take over desk assignments to relieve uniform men for patrols. The 114 members of the National Guard will assist as second men on night patrols or on point control.

Michigan's high mark for a 78-hour July 4 period was 35 deaths in 1954 while the low was eight in 1949, also the low for any July 4 since the war.

One of the best ways to avoid an accident is to plan evasive action ahead of time. As you drive along, visualize what possible kinds of hazards may be waiting ahead and what you would do to avoid them. This suggestion is offered by the Institute for Safer Living which states that this sort of mental preparation will help the driver to instinctively take the right evasive action when a real accident is imminent.
