

All Roads Led To Concert Under The Stars

MRS. HOWARD C. BALDWIN AND SON BOB

BEFORE THE LIGHTS CAME UP
Musician William Gris

MRS. SEMON KNUDSEN AND GEORGE HUEBNER

MR. AND MRS. WALTER REUTHER

MR. AND MRS. T. A. RODEHEFFER AND BETH

OU STUDENT RAYMOND KIZER

MR. AND MRS. SAUL BERNAT

CRONIES ZAYNE APPLIGATE (LEFT) AND DR. JOSEPH H. SHAFER

LINEUP FOR BUFFET

SUPPER IS SERVED AT MEADOW BROOK HALL

MRS. ROBERT RAISCH (LEFT), MRS. ALFRED G. WILSON AND MR. RAISCH

PICNICKERS MR. AND MRS. GERALD K. MUESSEL (LEFT)
AND MRS. FREDERICK SEVALD

Throngs of music lovers—3000 strong—joined Birmingham-Bloomfield last week to hear Sixten Ehrling conduct the opening of the Meadow Brook Festival at Oakland University. From all across the state (and from out of state, too), people converged to hear beautiful music played in an equally beautiful, outdoor setting. There were almost as many youngsters as adults present, hundreds of families arriving early enough to enjoy picnic supper on the grounds. The new $300,000 Howard C. Baldwin Memorial Pavilion drew gasps of pleasure visually as well as aurally, the full Detroit Symphony Orchestra sounding superb in the glowing, pre-tunable fiberglass acoustical shell especially designed for its use. Following the concert, Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson opened her home, Meadow Brook Hall, to committee heads, university personnel and out-of-town guests for a champagne supper. In the receiving line with the hostess were General Chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Semon E. Knudsen, Chancellor and Mrs. Durwood Varner, Mr. Ehrling and Dr. and Mrs. John Hannah of Michigan State University.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES ROBBINS (LEFT) WITH SEMON KNUDSEN