Religious Conference Inspires B'ham Writer

BY RUTH VOGT
Special Writer

Won't someone please ask, "What's new with you?"
Otherwise, wouldn't it border on conceit if I button-holed the first passerby and blurted out:
"Are you aware of the wonderful things which are taking place within our religious world? Do you realize that the first International Ecumenical Conference of many different religious faiths was held right within our very own state this past week up at Western Michigan University?"

UNLESS SOMEONE does inquire what I've been doing with my summer leisure, this great experience will stay locked within my brain. No job too large or too small. No one to blame. Free estimate. LI 5-2500 (12-24)

TO GO IN "COLD" on a Monday afternoon, register at a Woman's dorm and then seek out the registrar's desk in order to get the schedule for the week—but quite sure what was to come is like standing on a high cliff with great hopes but shaken a bit by the unknown sea stretching out beyond. How silly it was to hold the slightest fear.

BY THE END of the second day of lectures, speeches and open discussion groups, you hated to think that another precious day of dialogue and learning about other people's faiths had passed.

AM I attempting to declare here, after a short one week participating in dialogue with many different people holding different religious beliefs, that we are about to know one another as people. The other and forget all past differences which have separated us for over four hundred years?

Indeed I do not mean to suggest this. (Do we sweep the dust and dirt off into a corner, pull the drapes over smugly windows, merely blow the dust off the end-tables and then announce smugly "see how nice and clean this room from top to bottom?" Of course we don't.)

NEITHER WILL we be content to meet each other casually in talk and speeches, share meals and conversation and then proclaim to all the world, "nothing at all divides us; nothing at all!"

Such a method would prove disastrous; it would weaken and divide us from one another. However, to be able to expose

STRICTLY FRESH

Some say the latest computers are so human that they blame their mistakes on other computers.

A conference is a meeting at which people talk about things they should be doing.

The job science has today is to determine which of man's wild fantasies happens to be true.

He's a go-getter; his wife works and he goes to get her.

No matter how bad a haircut you get, it will cure itself within days.

Men never tell their wives secrets—some think they do, however.

Ignorance about each other evaporated.

"IGNORANCE ABOUT each other" . . . I guess that term sum up what touched me in that one short week spent at my alma mater campus.

This same experience was felt also last fall in Rome where an opportunity was offered to converse with many different Protestant observers who had been invited to the Ecumenical Council. It will be experienced again in October when returning to Rome to talk with one another. To listen. No gift is greater.

What an exciting era to be existing in. No other time in history would please me as much as this century. We must be thankful. That from Aug. 28 through Sept. 7.

Traffic Deaths Show Slight Fall in July

With provisional figures showing only a very slender reduction in traffic deaths in Michigan during July as compared with July a year ago, delay reports are expected to shift the month to the plus column, the State Police report.

Current figures show there were 184 deaths compared with 188 in July of last year, a decrease of only four or 1.2 per cent. But the provisional total in July last year was 195 and delayed reports increased it to the 188 where it now stands.

The provisional death toll for the first seven months of the year is now 1,187, an increase of 160 or 16 per cent over 977 for the same period in 1963.

With the exception of the July provisional figures June is the only month this year to record a death reduction with a total of 167, or just three per cent less than 172 in June of 1963. May split even with 149 and April went up one death to 143. There were big increases in the other months.

Although injury and accident figures for July are not yet compiled, the record for the first six months of the year is one of a continuous and sharp upward trend with 63,248 persons injured, up 15 per cent over the same period last year, and 130,067 accidents, a gain of seven per cent.

Estimated total for the first five months of 1964, the latest figure available, was 14.9 billion miles, an increase of six per cent over the same period in 1963, and the death rate per 100 million miles of travel was 5.2, up 18 per cent.

A feature of the first Sunday of the 11th annual Michigan State Fair will be the annual Sunrise Service at 8 a.m. The fair runs from Aug. 28 through Sept. 7.
