Rites Unite Pair Saturday

Janet Allen Tallman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer Tallman, 1735 Shipman Blvd., Birmingham, became the bride of Howard Woodrow Nannen, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodrow Nannen of Longmeadow, Mass., Saturday.

The single-ring ceremony took place at 3 p.m. in the chapel of St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham.

The bride made her own gown, a copy of a Christian Dior design. The gown was short, made of candlelight ivory peau satin, with a jewel neckline, bracelet length sleeves, a released pleated skirt and a waistline slightly raised in front.

SHE CARRIED a small cascade arrangement of stephanotis, ivy and Amazon lilies.

Pamela Porterfield, Hendersonville, N. C., was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid was Nancy Tallman, sister of the bride. The attendants made their gowns also, in the same fabric as the bride's gown but in shadow green.

Serving as best man was James Nannen, brother of the groom, and the usher was Gerald Nannen, also brother of the groom. Serving at the reception were Diane Tallman, sister of the bride, and Lisa Nannen, sister of the bridegroom.

The couple will reside in Amherst, Mass.

There's more than one way to look behind you while driving. The Institute for Safer Living recommends that all autos be equipped with outside rear-view mirrors. They help you to see what's going on in the blind spots that your inside mirror cannot show. These "blind spots" have been the cause of many accidents.
