High Voltage

In a week that's been as star-studded as an MGM lot, Birmingham-Bloomfield has basked in the reflected radiance of the world's largest golf extravaganza at Oakland Hills... Two Broadway personalities who've been local house guests... A beautifully appointed tea to "introduce" one of our town's prettiest teen-agers... Two important engagements (Klintworth-Risk; Heller-DeLamarier)... And the wedding Saturday of Nancy Lou Knorr and Ralph Polk, Jr.

Maintaining Tradition

Wednesday must have been a day of happiness as well as reminiscence for Mrs. Stuart A. Cogsdill as she and granddaughter Pamela Fife received guests at "Kathmar," the Cogsdill home on Orchard Lake. Doesn't seem too many years ago (June, 1940, to be exact) that Pam's mother, Mrs. Robert E. Fife of Bloomfield Hills, and her aunt, Mrs. Gene A. White of Birmingham, bowed together in the same house at a similar kind of party. If the fashion scribbles indicated earlier in the season that pink was THE important color for late summer, localities certainly lent an ear for, just as in the Polk-Knorr wedding, this most flattering of all shades themed Pam's party. The honoree chose a long gown of bluish pink French silk in which to greet her guests, while her grandmother and mother were in short afternoon dresses of cyclamen and shocking pink, respectively.

Posies From Her Dad

Pam's gift bouquet from her father was a colonial arrangement fastened to a dolly of sheerest lace and consisting of miniature pink carnations, Amling roses and tiny sprigs of ivy. The same flowers were used throughout the house, centering the Venetian lace covered tea table and ringing the punch bowl on the terrace. Pouring during the afternoon were Mrs. White, Mrs. Fife and another aunt, Mrs. John Riccardo; Mrs. Ralph Getsinger, Mrs. Donell Matthews, Mrs. John Parrott, Mrs. William Kelly, Mrs. C. Wesley Ebling of Detroit and Mrs. John C. Calhoun of Canfield, O., a house guest of Mrs. Cogsdill. Pam, who attended Chateau Beau Cedra School in Montreux, Switzerland and Casanova Junior College in New York, will be a student at the University of Wisconsin this fall.

Far Flung Influence

Helen (Mrs. Ben) Mills, who's also "Mrs. Camp Oakland," and Hazel (Mrs. William) Reid had a double purpose in keeping an eye on Gary Player during the tournament last week. Seems that following his match here last summer benefiting the Oxford, Mich. camp, for which Helen works so valiantly, Gary returned to his native Johannesburg and established a South African Camp Oakland for Boys.

PRESENTED BY GRANDMOTHER

At a formal tea given Wednesday in the Orchard Lake home of her grandmother, Mrs. Stuart A. Cogsdill, Pamela Fife, daughter of the Robert E. Fifes of Bloomfield Hills, was introduced to friends of her family. The pretty, blond teen-ager received with her grandmother and mother at an all-pink party, one of the highlights of the late summer season. She leaves Sept. 8 for the University of Wisconsin.

BROADWAY ON VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bernstein (Florence Henderson) of New York City are not pitching horse shoes. Rather, it's the good, old-fashioned game of Ring-a-Ding (looping a ring suspended from a 20-ft. rope over a spike nailed to a tree) that has the musical comedy star stretching for points. She and her husband have been guests for 10 days of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Egan of Franklin.

Engagements, Wedding Lend Sparkle To Calendar

Adding romantic luster to a week already brilliant with social activity are three starry-eyed young women currently wearing diamonds. Representing prominent local families, the trio includes Christine Klintworth and Morley Heller, whose engagements are being announced today, and Mrs. Ralph Lane Polk, Jr., who, before her marriage on Saturday, was Nancy Lou Knorr, daughter of Mrs. Fred A. Knorr of Bloomfield Hills and the late Mr. Knorr.

The bride's sister, Katie Knorr, was a junior bridesmaid, others including Janet Polk, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Henry B. Joy III of Grosse Pointe; Mrs. Thomas McConnell and Pamela Rollins, both of Birmingham. Mr. Polk was his son's best man and seating the guests were John Archangeli of Birmingham; Henry the service, decorations followed the theme of the wedding—miniature pink carnations used in profusion throughout. Mrs. Knorr greeted her guests in a costume consisting of a champagne overblouse of imported Venice lace complemented by a silk twill skirt and jacket. Mrs. Polk chose a Ben Zuckerman suit of Paris pink chiffon with matching accessories. IMMEDIATELY following the reception, the newlyweds left on

Cranbrook and was graduated from Hillsdale College in May. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi Sorority. Her husband attended Taft Preparatory School, Watertown, Conn., and was also graduated from Hillsdale. His fraternity is Alpha Tau Omega. HAZEL REID (LEFT) AND HELEN MILLS

Naturally, Helen had a keen interest in hearing how this brother-in-law would seem, just dandy! Gary raised initial funds for the project, his game warden brother is manager and, currently, youngsters who live only 100 miles from the ocean, but have never seen it, are now splashing around daily! A tribute to our dynamic Helen.

Change of Pace

When Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bernstein (Florence Henderson) arrived in town last week it was just for the fun of it—or almost. Ira, who is theatrical business manager for "How to Succeed" is working in the same capacity for "Golden Boy," the pre-Broadway Sammy Davis musical now at the Fisher Theater. Florence, however, had nothing more on her mind than "flaking out"—swimming, sunning and visiting friends. These are numerous since, following graduation from Pratt Institute, Ira was at one time with General Motors Styling. His talented wife, whom localities last saw here in "Sound of Music" and since on innumerable TV shows, came directly to Birmingham from doing the Bell Summer Theater, for which she is hostess (final performance, Sept. 8). Preceding this, she did two concerts in the Hollywood Bowl. The Bernsteins were guests until Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Egan of Franklin Park Drive.
