

Resident Teaches Course at U of D

John Kolar, 255 N. Hunter, Birmingham, will teach a course entitled "Techniques for Manufacturers Agents," in the University of Detroit Center for Continuing Education this coming semester.

Beginning Friday, Sept. 18, the course is one of 100 being offered for adults interested in non-credit, short-term programs for continuing their education or expanding their business skills.

APARTMENTS

Three apartments available for immediate occupancy. Reservations now being accepted for October in final section.

(Hotpot Appliances)

FOX-CROFT APARTMENTS

Maple and Telegraph, Phone: JO 4-2118

Sept. 3, 1964 THE BIRMINGHAM (MICH.) ECCENTRIC 5-D

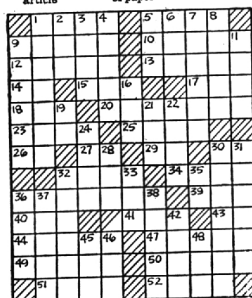

ACROSS

1. Pass
5. Sandpiper
9. A loach
10. Variety of willow
12. Century plant
13. The— of the ball
14. Radium: syn.
15. Sweet potato
17. African worm
18. Librarian tribes
20. Go down
23. Spirit lamp
25. Sound, as a little whistle
26. Digraph
27. Greek letter
29. Hobo: sl.
30. Exclamation
32. Astragali fruit
34. Red ochre
35. Teels sorry
39. Flap
40. Blunder
41. Trouble
43. Syllable of scale
44. Stand up
47. A sign of spring
49. Central idea, as in art
50. Black
51. Torn
52. Melody

DOWN

1. Satirical painter: Eng.
2. A wing
3. Fleck
4. Fear
6. Custom
7. Narrow band for the hair
8. Criminal
9. Farmers' gathering place
11. Persuade
15. Encountered
19. Indefinite article
21. Weep
22. Chief
24. Spindle on which wheel turns
28. Electrified particle
30. Curing
31. Capital: New York
32. Elf
33. Greek letter
35. Pronoun
36. Quantity of paper
37. Mistake
38. Begonia
42. Timber wolf
45. Transgress
46. Newt
48. Kidney bean

Answers to Puzzle Will Be Found on Page 7-D

PUZZLE NO. 823

FROM THE BOOKCASE

Aerial Experiences Are Pulled Down By Poor Storyline

Reviewed by MARILYN OLSON

THE LAST TALLYHO by Richard Newhafer, G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, 1964, 244 pp., $3.95.

When Navy pilots are not physically engaged in the act of flying a plane, a safe bet is that they are animatedly discussing it. The BOQ bar, the Officers' Club, or the ready room provides the setting for these high-drying conversations, and an unknown bystander could be knocked down by the falling of arms as hands manically become planes and execute carrier landings or go into a screaming dive.

One Navy pilot was not content merely to voice his aerial experiences. Lt. Cdr. Richard Newhafer incorporated his vast knowledge of flying into a loosely woven novel of aerial combat in the Pacific, known as "The Last Tallyho."

THE BOOK attempts to follow the wartime adventures of five young ensigns fresh out of flight training at Pensacola and thrown into the rigors of the Japanese war.

The reader would have been lucky, indeed, had they gone directly from the states to the combat zone, but unfortunately there was a stop in Hawaii where the embarrassingly poor storyline begins its downfall.

Of course, in most war novels, there must be women. This, I go along with, but the women in "The Last Tallyho" were so obviously placed in the book to advance the "sex portions" that they were more like instruments than people.

DORIS was attracted to the socialite, Ensign Maxwell Winston III. Now Doris had been having an affair with the admiral prior to the younger man's arrival on the island.

This little complexity was neatly solved when the admiral suddenly "felt more like a father than a lover"—and this feeling was so strong that it was he who gave Doris away at her wedding to the young ensign.

Then there was Julie, who was married to Dick Mariner after a three-day whirlwind courtship. This event had taken place in Chicago as Ensign Mariner was going cross-country.

Shortly after this, Julie was spending the night with the man who was to be her husband's future executive officer in the Pacific. And if this wasn't confidential enough, Julie journeyed to Hawaii to "find Dick" and roomed with none other than Doris.

What a small, tidy, convenient world (for plot development, that is).

NEWHAFFERS' CHARACTERS were weakly sketched, but none appeared any flatter than the five young ensigns. . . one was a football player, another was rich, and there were a couple of assorted heroes. This was all that was known about these men at the end of the novel.

Commander Newhafer may have had trouble with character and plot development, but he did come what redeems himself with his accurate descriptions of carrier-based combat flying. This is a unique type of warfare and one with which the author was familiar, so he was able to produce some truly exciting and suspenseful moments as he described the aerial battles high over the Pacific.

FEAR, LONELINESS, alternate feelings of ineptitude and skill, exhilaration, nervousness—all of these sensations and emotions were vividly reproduced by Newhafer, who was himself an ace during the Second World War.

"The Last Tallyho" is a collection of "sea stories." They are told well, and if you can tolerate an impossible network of convoluted situations and gaudy characters, you may be just the one to thank Commander Newhafer for bringing his war stories outside of the bar at the BOQ.

Altrusa Club Delays Date of Fisher Benefit

The Detroit premiere of Franz Lehár's "The Merry Widow" featuring Fative Manno, scheduled to be sponsored Sept. 21 by the Altrusa Club of Greater Birmingham, has been confronted with a one-day delay and will be presented Tuesday evening, Sept. 22.

The delay is attributed to the additional day required in transporting the musical's scenery to Detroit for its first Fisher Theater appearance after the curtain is rung down the preceding Saturday night in New York.

All tickets printed for Sept. 21 and sold by the Altrusans in their efforts to raise money for the new Oakland County Children's Center will be honored for the Tuesday night performance.

Courses

(Continued from 1-D)

Oakland University will combine with Cranbrook Institute of Science for the first time in offering Basic Astronomy. Some sessions will be held in the Cranbrook planetarium and observatory.

ANOTHER: cooperative course in Introduction to Plastics which was developed in cooperation with the Detroit Section of the Society of Plastics Engineers.

Hiley Ward of the Detroit Free Press will teach a Monday evening course in Journalistic Writing. Other writing courses include a Thursday afternoon Workshop in Fiction Writing and evening courses in Skit and Play Writing, Technical Writing and Business English.

Catalogues describing all 115 courses are available by calling the Division of Continuing Education, Oakland University.

THE KEATING COLUMN

Sales are good! Our prospect cards show a strong demand for almost every type of home in the area. WE NEED LISTINGS! If there is a possibility that you will sell your home in the near future, call us. A Keating sales counselor will be glad to talk it over with you. Of course, there is no obligation.

5-STAR SPECIAL

COUNTRY ESTATE $26,900

Beverly Hills split-level on one acre near Groves High School has new wing at rear with 15'x20' family room and a new bedroom and bath on upper level. Complete new kitchen and breakfast nook. Asking only $26,900. Out of town owner says "Sell." See today.

WE NEED MORE LISTINGS!

FRANKLIN $33,900

The setting for this luxury rambler is a large landscaped site in an excellent neighborhood. It has three larger than normal bedrooms, kitchen with built-in General Electric oven, range, dishwasher, and planning desk. Screened porch, large family room. Birmingham and St. Regis schools. Lovely home for $33,900.

WE CAN SELL YOURS!

BIRMINGHAM FARMS $30,500

Gleaming white brick rambler with full basement and three good sized bedrooms. A complete General Electric kitchen. Illuminated ceilings in kitchen and baths, white carpeting included. Near Maple and Telegraph. Owner moving to apartment.

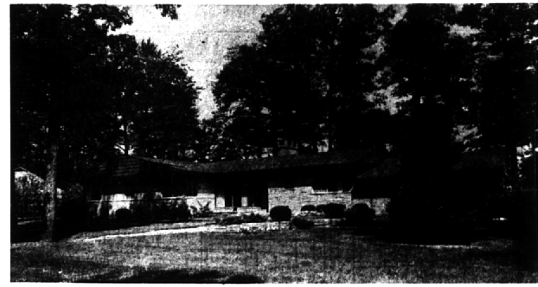

LIST WITH US AND GET RESULTS!

327 S. Woodward MI 6-1234

Upstairs — downstairs — how many trips a day do you make? Nary a step to climb in this superbly planned four bedroom Rambler — even the "basement" is on the first floor! Studio ceiling living room overlooking a park setting, separate dining room, kitchen with built-ins and huge breakfast area. 2½ baths, large utility room. It's really terrific and immediately available. Near Gilbert Lake and Oakland Hills Country Club. $42,500.

A chip shot to the 14th green at Oakland Hills Country Club and a beautiful setting with views of the fairway. Custom designed Contemporary, superbly detailed and exquisitely decorated. Uniquely planned with three bedrooms and 2½ baths, plus a fourth bedroom and lav off the garage. Family room with two-way fireplace shared by the spacious living room, wonderful kitchen, completely equipped, first floor laundry, centrally air-conditioned, basement rec room. You'll love it — inside and out.

A Golden two and a half acre nugget hidden in heart of the "Hills"—a big house for a big family. Gracious and spacious living room with two bookcase walls; a sunny family room as well as a first floor game room. Master bedroom suite with dressing room and bath—three other large bedrooms and two baths plus two smaller bedrooms and bath. Four car garage with an apartment upstairs. It's a "one-of-a-kind" setting at a price that puts it in the "gold nugget" classification. $59,500.

MAX BROOCK INC.

1895 — 1964

300 S. Woodward

Open daily 9-8

Saturday 9-5

MI 4-6700

JO 4-6700