School Directors Attend Conference

Some 600 Michigan school administrators will meet at Mackinac Island's Grand Hotel Sept. 13-15 for the annual fall conference of the Michigan Association of School Administrators.

The three-day program will open Sunday afternoon, Sept. 13. The highlight of the first evening's program will be an observance of the centennial of the American Association of School Administrators. Dr. Dwight Riek, executive secretary of the Michigan Education Home Association and former Lansing superintendent of schools, is program chairman.

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, and William L. Austin, MASA president and Adrian superintendent of schools, will be the featured speakers at the second general session Sept. 14. Bartlett's topic will be "Looking Ahead," and Austin will discuss "The Potential of MASA for Future Leadership."

A SPECIAL EVENT of the conference for school administrators and their wives will be a tea at the Mackinac Island home of G. Mennen Williams the afternoon of Sept. 14.

Dr. Tompason Guyer, director of public relations for the Cooper Tire and Rubber Co., will present the keynote address, "Profiles for Progress," at the conference banquet Monday evening.

The final general session and a series of discussion meetings will conclude the conference Sept. 15. The main speaker for the morning general session will be Russell T. Jones, principal of the Grand Rapids' Burton School and president of the Michigan Education Association. Discussion meetings will focus on teacher evaluation, non-academic programs and racial integration.
