Mrs. Mable Schultz from Mable's Herb and Flower Shop spoke on "A Pinch of Herbs."

Franklin Church Scene of Marriage

Janet Elizabeth Fay and James Rutherford Peters were joined in marriage Saturday at 3:30 p.m. at Franklin Community Church. Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Edwin Fay of 32635 Franklin Road, Franklin, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Armstrong Peters, 163 Wimbulton Road, Birmingham.

A Bianchi gown of ivory antique satin with a beaded motif that accented the empire bodice was chosen by the bride. The neckline was bateau, and the skirt's train was detachable. A bouffant imported French silk illusion veil was held by a pill box trimmed with the beaded motif. The bridal flowers were white gardenias, stephanotis and ivy.

MRS. ROBERT Beckwith, Jr., of Van Nuys, Calif., was the matron of honor and other attendants were Mrs. L. Stanford Evans, Jr., of Birmingham; Mrs. Stanley Lane, Jr. of West Branch and Christine Beltz, the bride's cousin, from Cleveland.

The attendants wore floor-length dresses of French blue chiffon in the directoire style. An empire band of matching satin circled the bodice and their headpieces were pill boxes of French blue satin. Fugi mums in blue and white with ivy were carried by the attendants.

THE BRIDE's brother, William, was the best man and the ushers, all from Birmingham, were Robert Kipp, Geoffrey Dettlinger and Otho Corsault III. The Village Woman's Club was the setting for the reception. The new Mrs. Peters wore brown wool with matching accessories when she departed with her husband

Women of the Detroit Metropolitan area who are graduates or former students of the University of Minnesota are eligible for club membership.

THE MEETINGS, held on the first Friday of each month, continue from October through June and the membership welcomes prospective members.

Reservations may be phoned to Mrs. Arthur Zelcedo, or to Mrs. Lucas Miel.

Empire State Is Honeymoon Destination

Lois Kathryn Saylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur E. Saylor of Island Lane, Bloomfield Hills, walked up the aisle of Kirk-in-the-Hills Saturday, Sept. 12, to become the bride of Julian Purtee Donahue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Donahue of New Delhi, India.

The bride wore a gown of white peau de soie with a scoop neckline of Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls and a chapel train with lace motifs. Her finger tip veil of silk illusion fell from a ring of lace.

She carried white roses and ivy. Valerie Hart served as maid of honor wearing a short gown of gold peau de soie and carried Woolburn Abbey roses.

ROGER P. Donahue of Baltimore, Md., was best man for his brother and ushers were William T. Gillis of East Lansing and Robert E. Saylor of Los Angeles, Calif., brother of the bride.

Following the double-ring ceremony, a reception was held at Windswept, home of the bride's parents on Island Lake.

The newlyweds left after the reception for a wedding trip in upper New York State. They will return for the opening of the fall term at Michigan State University where Mrs. Donahue is in her junior year and Mr. Donahue is completing work for his Master's degree.

Tea Donations Stock Shelves For Market

Soon it will be tea time — Treasure Shop tea time—at the International Institute.

It's that time of year when friends of the Institute—many from the Birmingham-Bloomfield area—gather for a special program and a sip of tea—all for a very small price of admission—a treasured gift to stock the Treasure Shop Booth when the annual Old World Market opens in mid-November.

And those looking forward to the tea have long since learned that the gift need not be opulent. Even the smallest "treasure" is welcomed.

AT THE helm as tea chairman for 1964 is Mrs. Oliver E. Frey, of Pleasant Ridge, and helping her with the plans are Mrs. Roy Nelson and Mrs. Donald P. Elise. Mrs. Frey has set Oct. 8 as the date at the Institute, 111 E. Kirby, with a dessert luncheon at 1 p.m. and a program to follow at 2 p.m. Birmingham sculptor Marshall Fredericks will discuss "Sculpture As I See It."

The Old World Market gets underway Nov. 19 through 22. Market chairman this year is Mrs. Frederick J. Schumann of Grosse Pointe.
